Dear praying friends,

November/December '25

As we reflect on the past year of ministry here in Meriden, we are continually amazed by the goodness and mercy of our Savior. It never grows old to consider that God would use us as instruments to carry His glorious gospel.

The last two months have been a quieter season, but we are thankful for several encouraging developments. One highlight has been reconnecting with Danny, who was saved earlier this year through a gospel-centered Bible study and followed the Lord in baptism on Father's Day. Although his work schedule interrupted regular discipleship for part of the year, he reached out in December and we have resumed meeting consistently. This has been a great encouragement to us and to his wife, who has been faithfully praying for his spiritual growth. Please continue to pray for Danny as he faces ongoing challenges and seeks victory in Christ.

Another encouragement has been the return of a lady who attended our very first service and volunteered as our pianist. After stepping away for personal reasons, she contacted us again in November and, after counsel from her pastor, began attending services once more. She has resumed serving on the piano, which has been a significant blessing after nearly nine months without a pianist. My wife continues to invest time in discipling several ladies who have been in church most of their lives but have never been formally mentored through Scripture. While these women are seeking truth, they also face ongoing spiritual struggles. This season has been a mixture of encouragement and burden as progress and setbacks often occur side by side. We appreciate your prayers for wisdom, discernment, and perseverance in this work. Please pray for my wife as she continues to minister to the ladies in our church.

We were also encouraged to see our church family come together in outreach. As a congregation, we prepared and delivered food to a local nursing facility for dementia patients and to emergency room staff at a nearby hospital. These efforts were a great way to express Christ's love and gratitude to those in our community and provided a meaningful opportunity for our church to serve together.

Thank you for your faithful prayers and generous financial support for our family and this ministry. Your partnership enables us to remain focused on the work God has called us to do, and we are deeply grateful for your continued encouragement and investment in the gospel.

Happy New Year and we eagerly anticipate what God will do through us this year.

Sincerely, The Kennard Family
